Welcome to Oddbins - and welcome to a whole new world of wine!

After some exciting changes, we're setting off on a new adventure and hope you'll join us to experience the very best wines, beers and spirits the world has to offer. We're passionate about what we do and we hope that we can inspire you, too. Our aim is to make choosing and drinking wine as easy and pleasurable as possible. We've gathered together a fabulous range of wines, from the satisfyingly affordable to some of the finest and most unusual specialties that the globe has to offer, available in store at our 37 branches across the country.

You may have noticed that parts of our range are currently a little limited - in the grand tradition of any big journey, we're travelling light, but will return very soon with fabulous treasures! As with any great adventure, wine can lead the intrepid explorer in many directions and down any number of avenues - some lead to fantastic finds, but others can appear dark and dangerous, many seem off-putting and some almost deliberately designed to confuse.

No matter what your destination, however, the journey should be enjoyable and, here at Oddbins, we're here to help make it simple and fun. So sit back, hold tight - and let us help you explore a whole new world of wine...

Maçon-Villages 2010 Cave de Lugny

Once again, this super impressive wine delivers incredibly high standards of winemaking for the price. It's not surprising that this is such a well-loved Oddbins favourite and one of the most repeatedly asked-for whites in the range. That the burgundy superstar grape - Chardonnay - actually gets a mention on the label despite prohibitive tradition is testament to the forward-thinking, innovative approach this winery takes. However what we have here is still, undeniably, a classic. A white with great focus and crisp, ripe fruit flavours. Open and relax!

Pouilly-Fumé Les Genievres 2010

Of the various "Pouillys", this is the Loire variety, made from the well known Sauvignon Blanc grape. Pouilly-Fumé makes more than a pleasant contrast to the more widely known Sancerre although in many ways it is similar. It is, however, just different enough to become a chosen favourite amongst some discerning drinkers. Try both sometime in a side-by-side trial and you'll become aware of the tiny subtleties that give French wine its magic. This has plenty of the Pouilly-Fumé brand of magic. Dry and fresh with an elegant bite and a flinty note on the end.

Cairanne 2010 Vidal-Fleury

Open up any book about the red wines of France and before long you'll be sure to see the name of this highly reputed Rhône house mentioned. Based in Northern Rhône they've been in the business for ages and are to be counted only with the greats. This is their Cairanne, which is in itself is another great name to be trusted for its big, solid and robust yet classy red style, and that's just what we have here. Pour a glass, open a good book and lose yourself awhile.

Terres de l' Engarran Initiales Rouge 2008

The south-west of France, with its herb-scented hills rolling gently down to the shores of the Mediterranean, is home to what many wine lovers would consider the true heartland of French wine. You can leave your Dan Bordeaux and Burgundies to those who love famous names; come here instead for love of wine. Honest, rustic wine, redolent of the land, priced for the people. Like this typically herby, lightly spicy, utterly lovely Vin de Pays d'Oc... a wine for contemplation.

Campos del Luz Old Vine Garnacha

A deliciously juicy example of Spain's most important red grape variety, this benefits in complexity and character from its old vine production. Big, bold and muscular, it also boasts an attractive colour and a packs a delightfully perfumed punch, with a strong - yet not overwhelming - finish. Crack open once well into long a meal with friends. This red has fire in its belly, enjoy over a long discussion into the early hours.

Green Fish Verdejo 2010

Keep a very close eye on this Green Fish... Why? Because this is the kind of simple Spanish white whose numbers are growing and whose jaws are steadily snapping at the heels of some of the more traditionally favoured styles. This is a deliciously clean and racy little Verdejo with a lovely neutrality and a definite peach note. In fact you'll be hard-pressed to find so much aromatic loveliness for less. So, reel in this this delightful new specimen before it wriggles away!

If you can't wait an age for your fine wine to age (and you don't want to go breaking into any of those sealed wooden cases stacked in your cellar) then instant help is at hand if you nip round the block to your local Oddbins for this little advance replacement, if you will. This is a Barolo for now, and is ready to go as soon as you get it home. Made from 100% Nebbiolo, this is ripe, full-bodied and velvety with a spicy element to its flavour. Try drinking by moonlight...

Gavi 2010 Produttori del Gavi

A daydream-awakening pinch of oneself may be needed when you see the price of this smart little Gavi. However the reality is that we've found another one of those one-off, true odd bins that give this company its name. And in this case, one for which the price has worked out particularly favourably. This is actually very true to Gavi in the way you'd expect and surprisingly good. Fresh and clean and superbly balanced at just 11% alcohol, this delicate wine slips down a treat. The perfect finishing touch to a relaxing evening.

Maycas del Limari Reserva Chardonnay 2008

These days, the word Chardonnay can be a source of dread and fear, such is the rough ride this grape has received in the last decade. To the rescue, come Maycas del Limari who have sent us a Chardonnay that might just change people's minds. This is a white of considerable virtuosity; pure, clean and restrained with a lean streak of minerality and a crisp green apple note too. A Chardonnay to turn around any doubter.

Villa Maria Cellar Selection Syrah 2008

This New Zealand red caused quite a sensation amongst Oddbins' passionate staff last time this was in the range, with much hoarding and hiding of the limited stock...It's not hard to see why. This sumptuous Syrah combines beautiful freshness as well as a purity of deep, dark, fruit that will only inspire forays into urgent food preparation. A wine to drink when seeking inspiration and the reassuring comfort of something really outstandingly good...

Mulderbosch Chenin Blanc 2009

Of all the grape varieties that South Africa has helped put on the map and get the world to take seriously, it is likely to be Chenin Blanc that takes centre stage. And as this new arrival to Oddbins bears out, Chenin is being given an increasingly elegant new spin. Dry and appley with good keen acidity, this has far more zip and zeal than most Chenins and is therefore a really versatile food wine. Mulderbosch's fine knack for showcasing the classic grapes is on good display here.

Philippe Guidon Brut NV

Of all the lesser-known, under-heralded Champagnes this is the one that stands out by a mile for value for money - receiving a steady stream of customer compliments. Such unanimous approval has got to mean something, and that something is a standard of winemaking that would not disgrace one of the big names in Champagne. This is most certainly on the dry end; understated, crisp and classic. When the occasion calls for Champagne but you've already spent all your cash on the tickets, turn to Guidon!

Prosecco Vinvita NV

A brilliant quality Prosecco which was signed up because it offered a noticeable contrast to the already excellent examples in the range. This candidate has a softer touch, with a little more depth, and is a little fruitier or off-dry in character. It also has a slightly softer touch on the wallet too. And as those who faithfully follow the Italian sparkler know well - value for money is what Prosecco does best. Pale light yellow in colour, with fine, delicate bubbles this fizz will set off any occasion.

On sale now...

If you managed to get down to your local Oddbins last October, you would have no doubt witnessed or even been part of, an exercise to get all comers thinking a bit more carefully on the subject of value for money when it comes to wine.

Two whites and one red whose identities were kept secret were set out to taste, and it was the task of you, the consumer, to indicate their value according to what you would be prepared to pay for each in a retail environment. With a turnout higher than we had expected, the results were collated to give us the Customer Recommended Prices for each of the wines.
